Speaker Profile

Ong Yunn Shing

Ong Yunn Shing is a Director in the Ageing Planning Office which oversees the planning and implementation of strategies to address the needs of Singapore’s ageing population.

The Ageing Planning Office staffs the Ministerial Committee on Ageing which drives the strategies to keep seniors active and healthy for as long as possible, as well as enhance the capacity and capability of the aged care sector to better serve seniors with care needs.

The Ageing Planning Office also oversees the City For All Ages project, which involves working with grassroots organisations in various precincts to survey the needs of seniors in those precincts and developing local strategies and initiatives to meet the needs on the ground. Within the Ageing Planning Office, Yunn Shing oversees the development of aged care services to meet the changing needs of our ageing population.
